BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

It is better to die in glory than to live in shame. But we can give our lives a little at a time every day. Whosoever will save his life shall lose it. But whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall the apostle, the same shall save it. (Matt. 10:39)

Hospital Decides To Restrict Number Of Patients Visitors

The president, Mrs. W. W. Finney, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. Toombs, of Campbellford, who has been working for the W.M.S. in her missionary work in India. She said "the great need for more concerned men and women is the greatest need of the W.M.S. I am doing a great work but we are not getting all our work-interested. We may be satisfied with reaching out to the community," he said. "I'm not planning on managing the number of visitors to the park. By this they do the patients that only close relatives will be able to visit a patient and have planned to perform the number of visitors a patient may have. Victoria School Holds Open Night

Work done by the children of Victoria school was viewed by a large number of interested parents Wednesday evening when open night was held.

Each room had exposed work books on the desks, and marked examples. Art work and wood craft decorative articles for indoors and outdoors were on display tables in the classroom.

Well worn plastic animals, embroidered goods, waste paper baskets, knitting books, radio battery worked decorated cushions were evidence of their skillful accomplishment.

Refreshments were served and end games were enjoyed by those who waited to remain for the night longer.

Joint Meeting

Planned By Glenn L.A.

Ottawa (PNS) — The Ladies Aid held their meeting in the afternoon of the Church with Mrs. Wm. Brown Mrs. Wm. McInnis and Mrs. Jean Brown in charge of the programme.

The president, Mrs. Clifford Harrison opened the meeting with a musical verse of "According to Thy Gracious word."

Praising the change of hymns, Mrs. George Brault had singing of "I am a Christian" and Mrs. Wm. Hoyle led in prayer.

Mrs. Wm. McInnis read a piece of prose entitled "Pride."

Mrs. Brault gave a very fine financial report in detail and on motion of Mrs. J. E. Nesbitt this was accepted as read. The financial report for the last year was read.

The February minutes were read on motion of Mrs. MacInnis and Mrs. Wm. McInnis it was decided that it be given to the society to pay for meals and paper for correspondence and supplies.

Letter acknowledging a treat sent well with thanks, was received from J. D. McInnis, and a letter from Mrs. Fred Gordon. The last minutes were read in Bowmanville, for a gift as a parting remembrance.

Several items of business were explained by the president and discussed and a vote taken on this matter, also the building of an extra table for the altar and extra dishes and it was decided to serve a cup of tea for the joint meeting held in March for the Post and Ottawa congregation.

The ladies of the Mission Band informed the gathering they were planning a concert in April.

Prayer was extended the president for her share in the success of the Victoria School. Mrs. Mae Murchison and Mrs. J. E. Nesbitt for buying the extra table and their children, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. McInnis for buying the picnic basket, Mrs. McKay and Elizabeth McInnis for buying the table cloth.

Collection was taken and the meeting was brought to a close by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The ladies chosen for the April meeting for the programme are Mrs. Victor Whitaker, Mrs. Wesley Back and Mrs. T. P. Putnam.

Mrs. J. C. Arnold Entertains WMS

Mrs. Zabolotta gave a very helpful talk on "Our Prayer Life" when addressing the ladies of William B. Baskin W. M. S. meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. J. C. Arnold.

Although the attendance was low, as many are ill at present, the meeting led by Mrs. N. Taylor, president, and Mrs. Jack Webb, at the piano, was enjoyed by those present.

Quite a number of letters and prayer the meeting concluded with unison scripture reading of John 17th chapter.

Mrs. C. Brown read a letter received from Philip M. Stachanow, now an inmate who was formerly in charge of the orphanage in Africa.

Mrs. A. Power gave the Flower Fund report and Mrs. A. L. Webster offered her home for the April meeting. Mrs. P. Powers read the minutes of the last meeting and the offering was taken.

Flowers in Front Yard Fit Mood of Modern Homes

Different from pattern planting of the twenties, modern designer gardens combine beauty of the flowers, and set a better more important than a dignified, formal appearance in the pattern. The house, you might say, takes off in front court and faces the world in a sports shirt, sometimes wearing shorts. What sort of front yard planting would be in harmony with that sort of atmosphere? Surely, not the sort of formal, regimented treatment, that became common as a foundation planting for a house which was in a visible foundation; not dignified endearment, where the house expresses informality and comfort. Yet because flowers are often slow to change, many of these homes have been planted in an undisciplined, unsuitable manner, or what writers have not been able to do.

The solution of this problem which is rapidly being accepted, is the front yard garden. It is the front yard the flower beds and borders, which were there in the Victorian era. Then, flowers were often used to park out elaborate designs in beds of geometric shapes. Modern gardeners are as simple as possible in design in order to create a sense of the beauty of the flowers. These are grouped in masses of one color, or arranged that, only mass harmonious, with a few flowers, and all provide a pleasing decoration for the house.

The garden illustrated is a simple one, for a small house where the main trend of the garden is the way to the front door. Both house and garden will be made to seem better by this arrangement.

Editorial

CAUGHT IN THE BIG SQUEEZE

Much is spoken and written, currently about the need for high prices and high wages but there isn't much of a case put forward for that group of individuals who are caught in the big squeeze. We refer to those people who are on fixed incomes and whose ability to purchase is non-flexible. They are in very sorry straits indeed and they are by no means a minority group.

A surprisingly large number of people in Canada today have been living, or attempting to live, on a fixed income—that is an income derived from interest earned on investments, or perhaps from a pension which was built up by contributions made over the years of employment for the time when retirement would become necessary. These people, if the cost of living goes up, cannot go to the investment house and hope for a portion of the pension fund and demand immediate compensation as can wage earners. At least if they do they know before they start that their chances of getting anything are practically nil. As a matter of fact people on fixed incomes have been getting a pretty raw deal out of present conditions. It is safe to say that they are the hardest hit, of all people in this inflationary period.

Perhaps if those who so freely advocate increasing prices and wages could have personal contact with some of the people who cannot afford to meet the extra demands that their demands will mean, they would concentrate more on producing for less, and less on producing for more.

Rudely increasing prices and wages does not in any way help and it does a lot of people harm. Those in the squeeze play may break about even on the deal they are given, but they are unable to produce as much as possible, and distribute it at as low a price as possible, having regard to maintaining a decent standard of living. The cause is on primary producers, distributors, and labor to work together more efficiently and economically toward this end.

Others Say

PERON vs. LA PRESNA

If citizens of free nations wish to learn from another of many object lessons in how their freedoms are carried away they will do well to read the suppression of the splendid newspaper, La Prensa, by the regime of President Juan Peron in Argentina.

After the suppression of the "Argentine Tribune," which has been suspended for a month, resulted not in police protection against toughs who killed one worker and injured others, but in the jailing of 450 local employees.

Through the suppression of the "Argentine Tribune," a strike, the squeeze play has none of the characteristics of a labor dispute. Now, following the clash of reporting employees with the police-supported toughs, the officially favored General Confederation of Labour proposes that the Peron Government take over the newspaper.

This is the doing of the regime whose head still flies to be called president rather than dictator. Yet the methods of political hoodlumism leading to dictatorship are evident. Apparently no such elaborate ideology surrounds Peronism as first Gobbles suppression of the German press or the regimentation of Soviet so-called Journalism. But the effect is much the same so far as the people's right to voice their subjective sources of information is concerned.

The essence of Peronism seems to be the personal ambition of President Peron and his wife. That is the only thing they have used against La Prensa may obtain the remittance and trappings or respect within a police-ruled country, but they will command less and less of the respect of the people at large.

JUST LIKE THEM

How many of you know who never follow their own advice? For instance, those who tell you to go to bed when you have a cold, but who never go when they have one. Or the fellow who curses you when you drive fast, but invariably breaks the speed limits when he's behind the wheel of his car. Or the lady who tells you that brown is unbecoming to you and then wears blue that brown is definitely unbecoming to her.

As a matter of fact how many people do you know who actually practice everything they preach? That might be an easier question to answer

Chatterbox

By Millicent

It is surprising how competent the little women can be. Some of them know a few tricks. Little things that are very costly and hard when they don't accidentally find out the plug is either too tight or too loose so here is what to do if it fits too loosely in an oval, bend pressure slightly outward to another fit in the same place. If it is too tight, use the process with a bit of graphite from a lead pencil. It's easy if you know how to do a very easy one.

Kidly Driving Gear
If you have a young son who likes to drive the car — and daddy knows — and makes quite a fuss when he can't, here is a new idea which may help him. It is called a kiddie driver and it is a small car that can be used on levers to child can see out the window and the safety belt keeps him securely seated. But the fun comes when he can make the car go forward and a gear-shifting steering post and a horn — and even a horn-bell — horn.

Madame Aurist
The First Lady of France is making plans to visit Canada with her husband, President Vincent Aurist, early next month. She will be the first woman to visit Canada with her main concern is keeping in touch with her two grandchildren, Jean Claude and Jean-Paul.

Refrigerator Bag
There is a new refrigerator on the market which has proved very popular for picnic, fishing trips and many other uses. It has a flexible insulation bag which holds air and cold temperature for up to thirty hours. Outer bag of reinforced, simulated all-weather plastic. It has a lockable front and full support during use. Just imagine the many ways one can use it. We hope they get them in our shops before they start taking holiday trips this summer. Things could be kept either hot or cold for a whole year on the water.

Seed Box Good Place to Sow Most Flower Seeds

If seeds are sown today, they will reach garden size faster without transplanting.

Many home gardeners start most flowers in seed boxes, even if the weather has warmed up some. Advantages of this practice are:

1. Soil well suited for germinating seeds can easily be replaced in the box.
2. There can be no danger of an excess of water poured to the shade of the box, or of the sun in cool weather.
3. All plants that develop can be set in the garden each in the place where they will be growing, thus saving the trouble of transplanting such as pinching, potting and repotting.
4. A disadvantage is that every time the box is lifted and moved to a new location it experiences a shock and upsets the plants. This can be overcome by starting your seed boxes early in a cold frame, indoors, or in the basement, and moving them to the garden as the weather warms up.
5. To grow the largest plants you

Some flowers are annuals, which means they take one year to complete their life cycle. Some flowers are perennials, which means they live for more than two years.
